

State Bird

In 1933, the Cardinal was chosen the state bird. Cardinals remain in Indiana year round.

State Flower

In 1957, the Peony was designated the state flower. Peonies bloom in various shades of red and pink and also in white.

State Tree

In 1931, the Tulip Tree was chosen the state tree. It is also known also as yellow poplar. It attains great height and can be found throughout the state.

State Pie

In 2009, the Sugar Cream Pie was specified as the state pie. It was created between 1810 and 1825 by the North Carolina Quakers who settled on farms along the eastern border of Indiana.

State River

In 1996, the Wabash River was designated the state river. It is the longest free-flowing river east of the Mississippi.

State Beverage

In 2007, water was designated the state beverage. Clean water is important and water is the single most vital resource in the world.

State Stone

In 1971, the Salem Limestone was adopted as the state stone. It is found and quarried in south and central

Indiana.

The Indiana State House in Indianapolis was built with southern Indiana Limestone.

A to Z Kids Stuff <http://www.aozkidsstuff.com>

Indiana is the home of the Indianapolis 500.

Indiana

The Hoosier State

Color Indiana's State Symbols

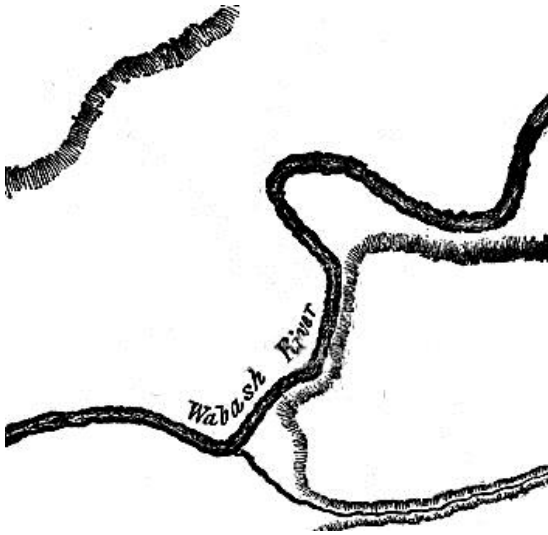

Indiana State Bird: Cardinal

Indiana State Tree: Tulip Tree

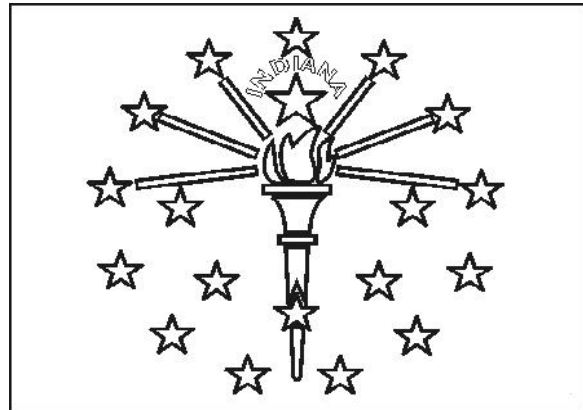

Indiana State Flower: Peony

Indiana State River: Wabash River

Indiana State Pie: Sugar Cream Pie

Indiana 19th State

Indiana State Motto: The Crossroads of America.

Origin of Name: The meaning is "land of Indians."

